It appears to your speaker that there can be nothing too good for a soul, which the Master Reformer declared to be of more value than the whole world, that the clothing for and the surrounding of the soul and body for which he gave the infinite price of his own life should be such as to elevate and ennoble and refine it. In our efforts at economy, are we not very liable to forget the estimate Christ placed upon the body as well as upon the soul? Do not children drink in forms and habits of thought and mode of expression and bearing of person from those with whom they come in contact at work and elsewhere as well as from the teacher in the school-room? And, in this way, are not all officers of a reform school potent teachers? If this be so, should not officers and teachers be men and women who have themselves been cleansed in the precious blood of Christ, and who are clothed in his righteousness, and who are filled with his spirit? Is it not false economy, and an act of injustice to the pupils, and inconsistent with the claims and object of the work, to employ any others? But more directly to the matter of clothing the body. There are two general methods, and much can be said in favor of each; and each involves two general systems,--the Family and the Military systems. Who ever saw a family uniformed? Now, if we are to have a family, let us have a family, with father and mother and children, each appropriately dressed with color and style befitting the
